Dear Hiring Manager:

I am looking for a software developer position or possibly an internship.

My past employment history includes HTML, PHP and MySQL which I did for approximately four years – back in the day. To update my skills, I am currently attending an eight week full-stack immersion program in Portland. This has brought me up to speed with JavaScript, Angular, Mongo, Git, Node and CSS among other things.

In addition, I have experience with customer service and computer software support as well as other technical support. I have excellent communication skills, both verbal and written, and am known for my attention to detail. I like to excel and am punctual and dependable. I have worked equally well in both a team setting and as a remote employee with no direct supervision.

I am looking to join a small diverse team where I can make a positive impact. I have lived in Bend for almost two years and own a home here.

Thank you for your consideration. If I can provide you with any further information on my background and/or qualifications, please let me know. I look forward to hearing from you.

Sincerely,

Kendall Comey
