Bend, OR 97702

Dear Hiring Manager,

with interest I read the recent article on bendtech.com “Why Kolleeve chose to Expand in Bend over Silicon Valley.” I am currently evaluating opportunities to pursue a similar move. Therefore, I am writing to express my interest in the position Product Manager at Kolleeve Technology published on bendtech.com on August 11, 2015. As a multilingual physically fit professional with an international background, strong work ethics, and a well-rounded skill-set, I am the ideal candidate for this position.

Throughout my successful tenures at various international software companies, I have demonstrated strong and efficient global product and project management skills. In different positions, I developed and configured software applications through well coordinated collaboration with customers, business consultants, and project stakeholders globally.

After relocating from Germany to the USA, SAP awarded me with leadership responsibilities to form and manage a team of developers to provide technical product support for SAP Supply Chain Management software applications. At SAP, I have also assumed other positions that required me to work closely with business leaders and end users to align software features with business requirements.

Commitment to my professional development and passion for sustainability inspired me to enhance my professional skill-set and shift my focus from Enterprise Software to Environmental Software. At international start-up companies, I successfully managed software releases as well as the configuration and implementation of Energy Management Software-as-a-Service. A central task has always been serving as the liaison between the customer and the product development team with the goal to improve solution offering and product quality.

This diligently acquired extensive technical skill-set in combination with my capability to quickly adapt to constantly changing requirements allow me to confidently welcome the challenges this position demands.

Please do not hesitate to contact me if you want to learn more about my professional background and me as a person.

Sincerely,

Markus Brockmann
